

What makes your soul sing?

Being back home has lots of frustrations, but nonetheless, this little island speaks to me and I believe it's where I'm supposed to be.

Outside of that, I cherish the daily interaction with my family and friends. They are my inspiration and support!

What makes you mad as hell?

I was born without patience – really a work in progress – so, I'd have to say that my bugbears are: a lack of urgency, inefficiency and excuses. However let's not forget taxi drivers, bank lines and lies!

What can't you do without?

Human contact, a cup of coffee and love.

Where do you long to visit?

It changes all the time but at the moment,
The United Arab Emirates (UAE), India and Cuba.

What's a perfect work environment?

Perfection would entail a large open space, large enough to do cartwheels – an accent wall with a vivid splash of colour, adorned with photography or design posters; sizable windows that would welcome the sunlight to kiss every corner of the room; a suitably sized work-area for mock-ups and sketching; a perking coffee pot, always on the go (just like me); lots of plant life to bring the outside in (hopefully not the lizards); ambient music and a full Mac setup. Let's not forget our very comfy lounge chairs amply equipped with copious magazines and design periodicals for those think tank sessions and late nights.

I'm not there yet, but I'm working towards it.

What are three things that you want to do before you're done?

1. Inspire a few people to appreciate and see the beauty in design
2. Realize my full potential – in all aspects of life
3. Touch a few lives through laughter and kindness
